SCHOONSELHOF CEMETERY

The Royal British Legion stands shoulder to shoulder with all who Serve – supporting our brave serving and ex-Service men and women today, tomorrow, and for as long as they need us.
The Commonwealth War Graves Commission (CWGC) was established by Royal Charter in 1917. It maintains the graves and memorials of the 1.7 million Commonwealth Service men and women who died during the two world wars at 23,500 locations in 152 countries. The CWGC also holds and updates an extensive records archive at www.cwgc.org where details relating to the casualty records can be accessed.

* SCHOONSELHOF CEMETERY, ANTWERP, (the Cimetière du Schoonselhof or de Schoonsel), was the park of a château, bought by the town in 1911, used by the Germans from 1914 onwards, and used for civilian burials in and since 1921. It lies in the commune of Wilrijk, on the road from Wilrijk to Hoboken. The Military ~~Plot~~ (in the South-West part) contains French, British, Belgian, Portuguese and German graves.

99 (98 in the Belgian edition)
The British graves are 98 in number, nine are unidentified, and 2 special memorials are erected to a Marine buried among them.
Seventeen of them were brought after the Armistice from LIERRE GERMAN CEME-TERY (on the Lierre-Duffel main road), one from BOUCHOUT-LES-LIERRE CHURCH-YARD, three from the War Plot in MALINES COMMUNAL CEMETERY, and one from the Casino garden at Lierre. The graves are of 1914 or 1918-20, except for one Canadian grave of 1917. (See plan on page 7.)

Antwerp (Anvers or Antwerpen), the great Belgian port on the Scheldt and a fortress of the first class, was the seat of the Belgian Government from the 17th August to the 7th October, 1914. It became, towards the end of August, one of the strong positions on the allied left flank, and by the middle of September a position of critical importance.
The Royal Naval Air Service used its aerodrome. It was defended by fortress troops and the greater part of the Belgian Field Army.
On the 27th September the Germans laid siege to it; during the first week of October the Naval Division entered the city, and they played a gallant part in its defence; on the 9th, before other British and French reinforcements could arrive, the last forts became untenable and the last defenders retired; and from the 10th October, 1914, to the Armistice the city was in German hands.
